

You are invited to attend Woolshed Thurgoona Landcare's:

'REVEGETATION OF WOOLSHED CREEK' Paddock Walk & Planting

Sunday 27th Aug
12:45 – 3:00 pm

*At the site of our current 'Revegetation of Woolshed Creek' Project:
50 Hawkscote rd, Thurgoona (Wolki family, private property)*

Dr. Damian Michael (Australian National University, Ecologist) will speak to us about the wildlife living along our local Woolshed and Eight Mile Creeks and how planting sites such as this, will benefit a range of wildlife species into the future.

Kylie Durant (Holbrook Landcare Network) will talk about creek processes, erosion management and how revegetation can help stabilize creek systems.

Following the paddock talks attendees are invited to stay and help plant. Over the last month school students, a 'green army team' and community members have been busy planting the site. If you enjoy planting, stay on and give a hand planting the remaining 350 plants.

FREE BBQ on arrival

RSVP required by Thur 24th Aug for catering purposes to Melinda Ritchie by email: support@wtlandcare.org

NOTE: Please wear sturdy footwear (gum boots preferable as the site can be wet) and bring a water bottle, hat and gloves and trowel/mattock for planting.
